CLOSE CALL FROM SERIOUS FIRE

Starts In The Cellar Of Duitman & Johnson's Hardware Store

BUCKET BRIGADE DO GOOD WORK

About 11 o'clock last Saturday night our residents, and especially those down town were startled by the cry of fire, which had started in the basement of Duitman & Johnson's hardware store on Lake street.

J. H. Duitman, one of the partners, was working in the office when his gasoline light went out; he proceeded down cellar to get a coal oil lamp, and lighted a match to locate the way, when, either by the head flying off or dropping the match (the exact way he is not sure of) into the oil-soaked earth, a flame was instantaneously kindled, and which spread with lightning like rapidity. Mr. Duitman endeavored to beat out the flames but they spread so rapidly that he was forced to seek safety, and immediately gave the alarm. It was at once responded to and a bucket line was formed to the well, which is situated about twenty feet from the rear entrance of the store. The handy supply of water, and the promptness displayed by the volunteer fire-fighters in coping with the situation is the only thing that saved the building and stock. The flames hurried through the first floor and spread clear to the ceiling, and it is nothing short of a miracle how the fire was ever checked. The dense and suffocating smoke rising from the burning oil and other material made it doubly hard to reach the flames which were near the centre of the building.

It was feared at one time that the fire was beyond control, and a salvage crew started to work at saving the stock of drugs and jewelry of Suggett Bros., whose building is twenty-four feet west of the hardware store, but before much of the stock was in the street, it was deemed unnecessary to take any more out. If the drug store had caught fire, Kehoe's restaurant, Coleman's pool hall and probably MacKirdy's real estate office would have fallen a prey to the flames.

A quantity of oils and other inflammable material was stored in the cellar of the hardware store, and which would have furnished fuel for a most spectacular blaze.

The loss to Duitman & Johnson's stock by fire and water is somewhere around the $250 mark.

J. D. Murdoch, east of Mirror, has traded his farm, bordering on Buffalo Lake to J. R. Mackie of Alix, for the building in that town, now occupied by the Massey-Harris. We understand J. D. will go into the machinery business at Alix.

Dr. Curtis, of Bashaw, was in Mirror last Monday.

The Royal Neighbors will present a play on Tuesday, March 17th, in Cook's Hall, Mirror. "My Awful Dad" is the title of the offering, that will last two hours and a half.

L. W. D. Rodheere Williams, has been transferred from Watson, Sask., to the Mirror branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Dr. G. W. Meyer has taken his "20-foot" iron-hulled, unsinkable schooner, the "Minnie of Buffalo," into dry-dock, and the ship-wrights will proceed with a general over-hauling and out-fitting, so that the boat will be ready when navigation opens up in the spring. The Doctor is planning for an extended cruise on Buffalo Lake this summer.

RURAL SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION

Tax Payers From Mirror And Surrounding Country Meet To Hear The Principle Propounded By T. H. Thihaudeau, School Inspector

DEFINITE INFORMATION WANTED BEFORE ACCEPTING THE SYSTEM

An exceptional large attendance of ratepayers from the Ripley, Lake Bend, George and Mirror school districts, and also from the unorganized territory west of Mirror, listened to an explanation of Consolidated Rural Schools system, in the school house, Mirror, last Monday evening.

The speaker, T. H. Thihaudeau, of Lacombe, school inspector, at the commencement read the new Alberta act in regard to consolidated schools, and then proceeded to illustrate the many advantages that would accrue to the rural community, providing the system was put into operation.

Mr. Thihaudeau stated that a consolidated school is organized from several districts and gave an outline of the manner in which scholars would be hauled to school, the expense attached thereto, the proportion each district would have to supply, and the money grant that would come from the provincial government. A central school is used and paid conveyances for the transportation of the scholars. It is a graded school and employs a higher class of teachers who can specialize, and who are able to take up high school work and prepare pupils for their matriculation. Consolidated rural schools are now in force in many parts of Manitoba; it is being taken up in Saskatchewan; while in the United States there are somewhere in the neighborhood of 12,000 in operation, and so far as known, in no case had they gone back to the old system, and the speaker considered that a very favorable sign. The western states and provinces where the country was sparsely settled were outstripping the eastern portions in the number of schools started. At present there is only one consolidated rural school district in Alberta. As to the expense in the majority of cases it was a little less for the country school districts under the new system, while the advantages to be gained were innumerable. The children, living at home were put in touch with a high school education which could only be secured otherwise by going to a distant school at greater expense; pupils, by travelling in vans would arrive at school in a better condition to take up their studies; schools would be better equipped; it would place the farm boy and girl on an equal footing with the town boy and girl in the way of education, and enable them to hold their own in the business world; the comfortable mode of travel permitted a more regular attendance at school, giving both teacher and scholar an uninterrupted course of study; country teachers are doing good work, but as it is usually a training school for them, they are often liable to make mistakes; scholars are always under the home influence; the effect of such a school on a community is invariably good, all citizens taking a pride in such an institution besides uniting the committing as a whole.

Several of those present expressed themselves as heartily in favor of the system, but before committing themselves, would like more definite information as to the actual cost of the undertaking, both to Mirror and the country districts. That it will necessitate an increase in taxation in Mirror was admitted, but to just what extent the increase will amount to is something that will have to be figured out later. It was decided to hold another meeting on Monday evening, Feb. 23 by the Mirror ratepayers, to discuss the question more fully, and whether or not it is advisable to amalgamate with the neighboring districts at the present time.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Thihaudeau for his address.

W. MacKirdy has been seriously ill for the past week and is confined to his bed. His many friends will wish him a speedy recovery.

Kehoe & Forestell have taken over the management of the rink from T. R. McCorkell and will open it for skating every evening in the week. The hockey team will hold their practices during three afternoons of the week.

The Board of Trade met last Tuesday evening. A number of publicity suggestions were submitted, that will be enlarged on later.

G. T. P. PLANS FOR EXTENSION

Several Roads To Be Built From Calgary

MIRROR WILL REAP A BENEFIT

According to a Calgary report the G. T. P. is planning an extensive building program in Alberta, and railroads will radiate from Calgary like spokes in a wheel. Several of these roads will affect Mirror, as it is situated on what will be practically a main line, and when the roads are completed it will give Mirror connection with American roads. The report in part says:

"The Todd-Calgary road, which will be opened into this city in a few days, is only a start of what is to be accomplished in the next year or two.

"The Biggar-Calgary branch of the G.T.P., which will be completed in a year, will make a direct line from Calgary east to Ontario. This line has been completed from Biggar to Lovena, and the rest of the road will be rushed to completion. This line will run trains from Calgary, meeting with the main line at Biggar and continuing east.

At Lovena there will be another branch line to Regina. Already this line is completed from Regina to Mavor, about half the entire distance.

When this line is completed it will give Calgary a railway

LIFE CONQUERS ALL THINGS

(BY ARTHUR APPLIN)

Ward, Lock & Co., Limited, London, Melbourne and Toronto

By Joe: "What a delightful romance, Salmo said. I hope you shall meet again, and that you will tell me more about it, Lady Hetherington. I suppose because I am a dull business man I signify love real romance."

Caroline made a grimace. Not much romance in London and less in South America.

"I'm sure wherever you go, you take it with you," heaving his, he kissed her hand.

Salmo drove to the Carlton Hotel. He asked for Hetherington and finding he was not in, he took a seat in the entrance hall where he could see every one who arrived. He had not a long time to wait, for Hetherington had kept awake. It was not until a quarter to one that he saw her make his appearance.

Salmo led him to a quiet corner in the new hotel, dressed lounge, ordered him a whisky and soda and a cup of coffee for himself, and he waited for her to appear.

After an hour or two, Hetherington was not communicative. He still seemed depressed, he still talked about with him an atmosphere of loneliness.

What? Salmo said at last. "Well, Hetherington repeated. And then he started as if suddenly remembering. Have you commenced to do my part?—into the part of the man we called Hetherington number one—yet?"

Just got beneath the surface, that is all, Salmo answered cheerfully. Really nothing worth telling—until I see you want to know.

A quick glance came over Hetherington, his eyes brightened, he became interested and asked:—until I see the smallest detail, everything you can discover that happened before the hour of half-past five on September 5, 1912.

Right, Salmo said. But would you mind, Sir George, first to tell me where you were at half-past nine a.m., half-past two a.m., half-past five a.m., on September 5, 1912?

Hetherington bowed his head and commenced to fumble in his coat for a cigarette.

Shortly after half-past five I was driving from Jordonburg Junction to my country house at Cranby. I thought you understood, Mr. Salmo, that you've got to tell me everything that happened before half-past five.

Everything that happened to you, Sir George?

Everything that happened to me, calling himself, Sir George Hetherington. I don't count into the argument as far as you're concerned.

Salmo shrugged his shoulders and lit the cigarette.

Very well, the stupor short, at standing a little way off, he saw a man staring fixedly at Sir George Hetherington.

He told the servant who answered the door and informed him that Mr. Salmo was waiting for him.

I can't have made a mistake—yet are George—

The detective ran Hetherington start at the sound of his own Christian name. Or was it "remembered at the sound of this name into the argument as far as you're concerned."

A shadow of disappointment crossed Hetherington's face. "I fear I have made a mistake."

As soon as the servant left him alone in the drawing-room, Salmo lit a cigarette.

Caroline smiled at him, she was not one of her husband's admirers. This he walked to the door opened it, he took one of the delicate, scented the principal couple in the room.

He took two sheets of blotting paper, folding them up he slipped them into the breast pocket of his coat.

He then walked to the door, opened it, he took one of the delicate, scented the principal couple in the room.

We have met before. He gave him the other man apologized and walked away. But Salmo noticed that he turned more than once and looked back.

As soon as they were alone, Hetherington turned eagerly to the detective and begged him to continue his story. The American obeyed but he did not tell Hetherington what he had done, only what he had discovered.

I don't pretend to be of any importance, but I have found the end of the thread which you wished me to do. It shouldn't be difficult to follow it up.

It is the utmost importance, Hetherington said quickly. Then he told him that Salmo saw his face grow a shade paler. I caught to have found you in London. I have found you in London.

Darwin on Marriage

A newspaper correspondent recalls Darwin's early views on marriage.

Man acquires with scrupulous care the character and pedigree of his cat and dog before he purchases them; but when he comes to his own marriage he is not so particular.

It is implied by nearly the same motives as the power which they are left to their own choice, though he is in so far superior to the brute in his values more charms and virtues.

On the other hand, the man who marries for wealth and rank. Yet he might be selected for something not only for the sake of his intellect and moral qualities.

Every one does good service who aids toward this end.

Scientific Marriage

Our boss is a grand old fellow. What's he up to now?

Teacher—Now, boys, learn a little about mental arithmetic. How would a person be who was born with a head on his back?

Pupil—Please teacher, was it a man or a woman?

A Typhoon in Japan

My room on the second floor roiled and swayed, and it seemed as though the building could not hold together. After while I grew accustomed to the motion and the noise of breaking glass and dropped off to sleep, but a terrific crash right by my ear brought me up with a start. The sheet iron shutters of my window had finally succumbed to the force of the gale and although fully eight inches of glass of the pane had bent in until the window sash and all, lay shattered on the floor. A drenching torrent whirled in from across the room, the rain beating against the pane, and the water poured in until the room was under a sea of water. I jumped up and seized the bed and bounced it savagely up and down. Then part of the roof took leave and all past my window with the noise of a cyclone, pouring into an empty steel tub.

By dawn the typhoon was satisfied with what it had done and retired to sea. I retrieved my natural calm and went to bed.

The World Improved

Improve at first meant to rebuke, or condemn or disapprove. In the French it means to praise, to be the opposite of the English word. Milton wrote it in the sense of the latter. Only in the course of time did it take on the present signification of bettering.

Dread of Aspnas makes countless thousands miserable. It is a disease which attacks the lungs and even when brief respite is given the mind is still in torment. It is a disease which is not cured by rest and quiet. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Aspnas makes a permanent change in the system, comes and goes, while future attacks are warned off. Leaving the patient on a state of perfect health, it is a cure which is a blessing to the patient. It is a cure which is a blessing to the patient. It is a cure which is a blessing to the patient.

Open Windows all night.

It is difficult to get doctors to agree as to agree with the patient. For years I have been a slave to the open window, the fresh air at night that doctrine of the open window was my champion but recently I have been told that the open window was a bad idea. I have been told that the open window was a bad idea. I have been told that the open window was a bad idea.

Look at the animals. When they sleep they choose the stiffest possible bed. They choose the stiffest possible bed. They choose the stiffest possible bed. They choose the stiffest possible bed.

Beneficial Exercise

Exercise to be beneficial must do three things:

First—it must slightly increase the blood pressure, and second—it must be so as to improve the circulation and third—it must stimulate the system with a tendency to sluggishness.

Second—it must slightly quiver and depress the breathing rate so that the pure air is drawn into the lungs and the impure air is left behind.

Third—it must stimulate the normal activity of the muscles of the body of a part of the poisonous substance constantly being formed within us.

Practically any exercise, if carried out with the correct degree of moderation, will accomplish these results and so deserve the term beneficial exercise.

The trouble is that indulged in past moderation almost every form of exercise can do more harm than good.

The young girl sat in her bedroom reading and waiting impatiently. Her sister was downstairs. A young man in the parlor and she wanted to know how it would terminate. At last there was a sound in the hall and she went to the door.

A Journalist Tells of The Advantage of keeping Nervine Handy on the Shelf

Forty years ago Nervine was used from coast to coast, and in thousands of homes this trusty friend served the entire family, cured all their minor ills, and the doctor for the most part. Today Nervine still holds first rank in Canada among pain-reducing remedies—nearly a home for each of us.

From Fort Hope, Ont. Mr. W. T. Greenaway, of the Quits newspaper, writes: "For twenty years we have used Nervine in our home, and for the world would we be without it."

As a remedy for all pain, headache, toothache, cramps, headache, and disordered stomach I know of no preparation so useful and quick to relieve as Nervine.

For every mother give Nervine a trial. It's good for children, good for all folks—you can rub it on as a liniment or take it internally.

Many Useful Germents

Fortunately city flats have not the same old-fashioned "stencils" to have. And yet low many boxes and unused trunks and other things are in closets that are filled with useless clothing, worn shoes, hats, and other things.

Many dresses that would warm the heart as well as the body of some poor unfortunate girl than the one who wears them. And the same is true of the entire family, cured all their minor ills, and the doctor for the most part.

AFTER SICKNESS OR OPERATION

It is a pathetic mistake to accept drugs or alcoholic mixtures when nature craves nourishment to repair the wasted body and restore the vigor of health.

For forty years the best physicians have relied on the whole-some, nutritious, and strengthening Scott's Emulsion which is free from alcohol or opiates.

Scott's Emulsion sharpens the appetite—renews blood—nourishes the system—strengthens bones and restores the courage of health to make life bright.

Scott's Emulsion sets in action the very forces that promote health; it is pure, rich, and strong.

THE BONUS QUESTION

Why Not Bonus the Greatest of Basic Industries, Agriculture?

FOR many years manufacturers of iron and steel, lead and other articles produced from the Canadian raw materials have received bonuses from the Dominion Government. While there have been some murmurs at his policy, it has as a whole been improved by the Canadian people, a tending to promote the development of our mines that offering employment to Canadian labor. There is no doubt a legitimate basis for a bounty system if properly applied, and what is more important it results are being obtained. But why confine the bounty system to manufacturing? I am not the homesteader who convert the virgin prairie into wheat, oats and who raises good stock, doing his share in the development of a raw material? True, he is given his land for next to nothing, but for that matter the miner receives his concessions from the Government at a very low figure. Under present conditions the new comers have little or no capital, no farming experience, and on the whole are poorly qualified to take up the work of homesteading. If there was no bounty on the amount of wheat produced from an acre, on the method of crop tillage, or on the number of stock kept, or on some other basis that our agricultural experts could not doubt work out, it would be an incentive to the inexperienced agriculturist to make a careful study of his methods, and what is more important, it would attract a better class of farmers to the freeland. Some form of financial assistance to the immigrant seems essential if the West is to develop on a sound basis. The Government keeps a watchful eye on him from the time he leaves his old home in United States, Great Britain or elsewhere; supervises his passage to Canada and across Canada to his new home, and presents him with 160 acres or more of land. Why not carry the patronage system a step further, and by employing some of the money the Western farmer pays in as revenue, provide a large corps of agricultural experts to supervise his first efforts in farming.

There is no limit to the methods that might be employed to assist the Western farmer financially during his first few years on the new land. If he felt that the money he was paying out of one pocket in the form of a customs revenue was going back to him through the other pocket in another form, the spirit of unrest and discontent which now prevails in some sections would disappear. The iron and steel heaviest have built up tremendous industries at the Canadian Soo, Hamilton, Sydney, New Glasgow and other points. These industries have brought returns not only to the manufacturers who organized the enterprises, but to their workmen and the merchants in the towns in which they are located. Agriculture is like iron and steel, a basic industry, and there would be every justification for a more direct system of Government aid to the agriculturist than is now afforded by the agricultural college. No doubt there would be many difficulties in the way, but at least a start would be made which would assist the pioneer farmer.

WHEAT CONSUMPTION

The Average Canadian Leads the World in This Regard

The consumption of wheat has been estimated for various countries, with results as given in the accompanying tabulation. The estimates are based upon the average production for ten years, exports or imports of wheat, including wheat flour reduced to wheat equivalent and exclusive of that used for seed. Canada is easily the lead, an average Canadian using nineteen times as much wheat as a Japanese in his native country. The figures in bushels are:

Canada	9.5
Belgium	8.6
France	7.9
Spain	6.1
United Kingdom	5.9

GOOD ROADS

Always an Inducement to Clean up the Neighborhood

GIVEN a good highway, the farmer sets to work to rebuild tumble-down fences, to clean out ditches, to get a new coat and hat, to shave a little often, to carry himself straighter, and to take more pride in his house and wife and horse. Presently he is worrying about the appearance of his farm. For the first time he notices that the old home looks run down and painfully like a shack. Nothing will suit him but to change to better quarters before the year is out. Meanwhile a grand coat of paint, a new beanie, for he is now somewhat ashamed of the home which he had built with his own hands. Everybody in the neighborhood catches the improvement fever. Neighbors set to work making their collective surroundings better. The schoolhouse is the first thing that comes in for general attention. The church no longer looks so shabby in its spotlessness. In short, the good road has reformed the man, reformed the household, transformed the children. It has made better husbands and wives and citizens; it has cleaned out the stables and the barn, and changed the ways of living and thinking and dealing; it has put more money into the farmer's pocket, and more pride in the farm, and sort into his heart. It has been a preacher and a lecturer. It has fitted the neighborhood for citizenship, and paved the way for the world to follow. In a word, it has regenerated the community.—Thomas W. Wilby, in "A Motor Tour Through Canada."

Worthy of the world's best music

To most of us the chance to hear human playing of good music comes infrequently. Only in the great cities are the appetites of the music-hungry satisfied. Even then one can hear but a small part of all the world's concert.

Fortunately for those who love the masters of the past, and who have the judgment to recognize in present day composers the masters of the future, there is the Edison Phonograph. It is worthy of Wagner, of Bach, of Puccini. The clear, sweet tone, remarkable in its purity, is simply a translation of human music into your own home. Unless you have heard the newest Edison, you have no conception of their wonderful and unique quality. You never realized that such beauty could be applied to sound.

Ask your Edison dealer to play one of the Blue Amber Records—then you will know that the whole world of good music—past and present—is open to you.

NORTHERN ONTARIO HAS GREAT FUTURE

Uninhabited Wilderness of Forests and Lakes Being Transformed Into Peopled Region

Without attracting much notice from the older and more settled parts of Canada, the northern portion of Ontario is being gradually transformed from an uninhabited wilderness of forests and lakes into a civilized region dotted with small towns and communities with a strong individuality of its own.

A traveller who recently visited Northern Ontario expressed himself enthusiastically with regard to the prospects of that portion of the Dominion.

"In ten years that country will be like a new Province," he said. "It will not be like old Ontario—it is not like that. Neither will it be like the Western plains or like the British Columbia. I am not speaking in a partisan way when I say that the future administration of old Ontario will have to stretch their powers and their imaginations in order to do justice to this new region. In fact, it is going to be hard to treat it as part of old Ontario. That, day by day, will support an enormous population. There will be great cities up there and whole countries that know not Toronto, except as a far-off report."

The speaker went on to point out that when new Ontario is once developed it will have a strong set of characteristics of its own. He pointed out that the very toll which is necessary in order to clear the land will call for the best kind of settler and will bring out rugged qualities in the children of these settlers. The population of New Ontario is still small. It is getting a selected type of settler, chiefly from Old Ontario but many are men from Europe, who have been employed in the mines to the south, and who have reverted to the soil. The farmers of this region are producing excellent foodstuffs and finding ready markets in the mines to the south. They pay little attention to wheat growing except on a small scale. Practically every farm has some small clearing, big enough for mixed farming.

MAINTAIN THE WOODLANDS

For Little Attention to the Subject by the General Public

Prof. E. J. Zavitz, Provincial forester, in speaking of the results of co-operative work in forestry in Ontario said two hundred thousand trees had been planted last year in 23 counties of the province. The department had a plantation in every county, and the trees put out have been planted in waste types of soil, in blow sand, steep hillsides, etc. They prove a big factor in the protection of roads from the drift sand and landslides. There is only nine per cent. of woodlands in southern Ontario, less even than in densely populated Great Britain, the speaker said. The quality of our forests also is not improving, as the best trees are being cut down and not replaced. Labor, or the want of it is partly to blame for the fact that we do not keep up our woodlands, but the professor hinted that indifference, and the fact that there was no immediate return, was the chief factor. In Norfolk County there are one million trees in the nurseries and sixteen thousand acres in connection for experimental planting. Prof. Zavitz, however, is quite frank about the fact that but little encouragement, much too little, is given by farmers and the general public in the subject of reforestation. Especially is this pronounced when we consider that trees can be had for the asking.

Discovery in Potatoes

Three French scientists, Dr. Barrois, M. M. Gradet, and M. Thibaut, announced successful results of their experiments to restore the cultivation of the potato. They discovered that edible tubers can be obtained from potato seeds with the aid of a certain microscopic ground mite, which fastens to the roots and causes tuberization desired.

Experiments produced potatoes free from disease, and savants assert the regeneration of the potato is now assured. Important economic results are expected.

How Musicians Are Produced

Great composers and musicians have always sprung from people who had a folk music. In Germany, in Italy, in France, in Hungary, it has been so long ago, when the common people of England were instinctively musical, England produced the greatest songs and the greatest composers. Then England began to get its musicians, and to take its musical standards from the Continent, the popular music was stamped out of existence and the race of English musicians died the death.

RULES FOR BUSINESS GIVERS

Don't give to a collector just to get rid of him. Frauds flourish upon the folly of people who do this.

Don't give money to a solicitor who cannot show proper credentials.

The way to be certain that your contribution will go to the cause which you are interested in is to mail your check to the treasurer—not to give it to a solicitor.

Don't subscribe to organization which give only a post office box number as their address.

Be wary of one-man organizations. Every reputable charity agency should have a board of managers to direct its work and oversee its finances.

The fact that a woman appeals to you for a contribution does not necessarily imply that the charity in which she is interested is worthy. Frauds tempt charitable enterprises are quite as often conducted by women as by men.

Always investigate before you subscribe. There is no disgrace in giving wisely.

SENSE OF HUMOR

Laughter One of the Finest Tonics

For Jaded Nerves

Women ought to develop a sense of humor, because laughter was one of the finest tonics for jaded nerves and tired-out systems, said Professor Earl H. Brown, of Toronto, in a lecture on "Recreation as a Constructive Force in Life." The human system, broken down either by overwork or by working in one particular corner to the detriment of the other part of the nervous system demanded, said the professor, a "pick-me-up" of some sort, and one was laughter. A man or woman with a tired-out feeling might work himself or herself into a second or a third wind as it were and in the end accomplish something brilliant, but that was more frequent than the way to physical and mental destruction. Men and women must have a distinct change of life after an arduous day's work. Merely going off to sleep was not sufficient. Dealing with the problem of recreation as a form of rest, Professor Brown said England had $250,000,000 in reared in permanent paid players engaged in sport, and Scotland out of her 16,000,000 acres devoted 2,000,000 of those to sport. It was a pity that women had so little interest in the games of sport, which was a recreation of marvelous power. Music and art were not forms of recreation unless those educational games had been trained. When men and women balanced their lives along a sufficient amount of recreation they had arrived at a very large solution of the problem of human life.

PRAIRIE TREE-PLANTING

Government Helps Prairie Farmer Establish Woodlots

For several years over two and a half million tree seedlings and cuttings have been distributed annually to the prairie farmers by the Government Forest Nursery Station at Indian Head. The young trees are supplied only to bona fide farmers who have a bona fide farm in Saskatchewan and Alberta, and then only in small lots not exceeding five hundred seedlings. The trees are supplied in the form of seedlings, and are usually supplied as cuttings and do well together. The Russian willow is growing in popularity with the farmers on account of its ease of propagation, its quick-growing qualities, hardiness and freedom from disease. That species, larch (tamarack), Scotch pine will also do well on the prairie. The best results are in all cases obtained by planting the trees in spring in belts at least twenty yards wide on well-prepared soil, such as the trees being spaced about four feet apart and planted in rows to permit machine cultivation in order to protect the soil from weeds and erosion until the trees grow large enough for their branches to meet.

As a thank-offering on the coming of age of their elder son, the Marquis of Titchfield, and to mark their silver wedding, the Duke and Duchess of Portland were asking the Committee of Management of the Mansfield Hospital to accept a sum of between $20,000 and $25,000, to liquidate the debt on the King Edward Memorial Wing that is being erected.

SNEER AT MANUFACTURER

The recent convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at Halifax seems to have prompted many unwarranted attacks on Canadian manufacturers in certain quarters. This causes the Calgary Standard to administer the following well-merited rebuke in its editorial columns recently:

It is the fashion in some circles to sneer at the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the cause of people whom it represents. But we observe that most communities are glad to hear of the establishment of factories or workshops in their neighborhoods. For example there is a general feeling in this community that Calgary would be greatly benefited by the addition of a number of productive industries employing many hands. The general opinion appears to be that the men who would build large workshops here, operate them honestly and profitably, would be useful members of the community. There is no disposition to exclude this class of inventor as the enemies of the farmer or of the consumer or of the laborer. This hospitality to the manufacturer is the general attitude the people in other communities have toward the local manufacturers. Thus it happens that when at election time an attempt is made to set other interests against the manufacturers the movement usually fails. The plain people know that it is not a genuine cause, and that those who make it are either conscious humbugs, or men who do not understand what they are doing."

Poor Stock

No dairyman should be satisfied with cows that produce much less than 800 pounds of butter fat per year. Use the Babcock test and dispose of the poor stock.

Having Labor

In these days of high-priced farm labor or no labor at all, a little gas line engine that costs around $110 will do more work than three hired men.

A mixture of soaked lard, lard and oil, cotton lard is used in some portions of Turkey as a substitute for cement.

Two Home Women

Talked About Hair

Two women met in our store the other day, when one of them said: "By how pretty your hair looks! What have you been doing to it?" Her friend replied: "I have been using Harmony Hair Beautifier for the past two weeks." The reply was: "Why, indeed?" replied the first woman, "that is just what I am using, you'll be glad, and don't you think I show a lot of improvement?" "Yes," said the second woman, "I am using it all the time. It is becoming a hair beautifier. It seems to polish and smooth the hair, making it glossy, silky, and more easy to put in graceful, wavy folds. It 'stays put.' Contains no oil, and will not change color of hair nor darken it. Simply applies a little on your hair each time before brushing it. To the gray hair and scalp dandruff and dandruff, use Harmony Shampoo. This liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich, foaming lather that immediately penetrates to every part of the hair and scalp, loosening, quick and thorough cleansing. It is washed off just as quickly, the entire operation taking only a few moments. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00, Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Retail Stores, and in this town only by Suggett Bros., Mirror, Alta.

New Ranching Regulations For The West

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 16.—New regulations governing ranching in the three prairie provinces were adopted by the cabinet on Saturday. In future the maximum areas granted under lease on any one person would be a half section. No particular part of the provinces is set aside for ranching, but the regulations apply to the whole of the country.

Applications for grazing leases on any land will be granted only after inspection, to determine whether the land is suitable for grazing or agricultural land. Where the farmers adjoining grazing land express their desire that it is retained as a common for all use for their stock, no lease will be granted. Leases will be granted for 10 years, but existing leases will not be disturbed until their expiration.

West of the Calgary-Edmonton and Calgary-Macleod railroads, what is known as the foothill country, is now nearly all under lease and in very large blocks. Here the lessees of these great areas have signified their intention of giving up a part of their grazing lands as common to the farmers acquiring stock. These areas will likely be held as commons and will be for the use of all the farmers engaged in stock raising.

Lessees will be required to have one head of horse or cattle or five sheep, for every 36 acres. Where the inspectors believe that the land will carry more stock they will fix the number they consider should be grazed on such area.

Twenty-five per cent. of the required stock must be placed the first year on each leased area granted; at least 30 per cent. of the stock must always be breeding stock.

Attend the meeting in the school house next Monday evening, when the Rural School Consolidation question comes up for discussion.

Ninth Annual Session Of I. O. O. F.

Medicine Hat, Feb. 17.—About 200 delegates from all parts of the province are gathered here for the monster Odd Fellows' convention, which combines the ninth annual session of the grand lodge of Alberta, the 11th annual session of the Rebekah assembly and the second annual session of the grand encampment. The sessions are being held in the spacious Odd Fellows' hall, which was completed during last year. Streamers of greeting and flags are flying in all parts of the city.

The grand encampment and the Rebekahs opened their sessions Monday, the latter adjourning until Thursday. The grand encampment continued their session during the afternoon. E. C. Webber, fraternal delegate from British Columbia grand lodge, extended fraternal greetings. The reports of the grand lodge patriarch and other officers showed a substantial increase in membership during the past year.

Officers elected and installed for the ensuing terms are:

Grand patriarch, M. S. Saunders; Calgary; P. G. P., E. E. May, Edmonton; G. H. D., M. A. Brimcombe, Vermilion; G. S. W., D. Wilson, Edmonton; G. scrib, H. A. Adams, Calgary; G. treasurer, G. W. Henderson, Calgary; G. J. W., J. Doubt, Coleman; G. representative, H. J. Adams, Calgary; G. H. J. E. Chandler, Waskaskia; G. I. Sent, R. L. Hasckell, Edmonton; G. O. Sent, R. B. Morden, Lethbridge.

running from thence to Northgate, the nearest point in the west for G. T. P. connections with the great American roads. This line will start at Calgary, over the Tofteld line, will branch off at Beiseker, 50 miles north of this city, will then go east over the Calgary-Bigger line, branching off at Loxvona and running southeast through Moose Jaw, Regina and Weyburn to the international border. This will be one of the most important lines of the G. T. P. in the West.

There will also be another line a continuation of the Calgary-Tofteld line, constructed from Calgary to Lethbridge, and then continuing south to Coultis and connecting with the Great Northern and other American roads at that point.

There will also be a line built from Regina to Lethbridge in the south, which will mean a southern road, a northern road, and a central road all running from the east of Calgary. And last but by no means the least of these lines is the line which is now planned by the company to run through the Crow's Nest pass to the coast. This line will leave the Calgary-Lethbridge line at a point somewhere about Kipp, and will run parallel to the C. P. R. to the coast, having branches in British Columbia.

Card of Thanks

We wish, through the columns of THE JOURNAL, to thank the many citizens, who by their timely help on Saturday night last, assisted in extinguishing the fire in our hardware store. It was only by their prompt and ready response to the call, that we are doing business today, and we will always remember the act with a feeling of pleasure and gratitude.

Always Put "ber" In Alberta

A movement has been started by the Lethbridge Board of Trade, to favor the use of the complete word, "Alberta," when using the name of this province. The following resolution was passed at one of their meetings recently and covers the proposal to do away with the contraction:

"Whereas, the abbreviation of the name of the Province of Alberta to Alta. amounts to an ineconomical economy, and whereas, the word 'Alberta' is both significant and euphonic and may become a trademark of great value in marketing the products of the country. It is therefore resolved by the Lethbridge Board of Trade to discontinue the use of the abbreviation 'Alta.' and to endeavor to popularize the use of the full name 'Alberta' and to this end the people of Lethbridge, all commercial organizations, banks, railroads, publications, schools, governmental departments, and other interested are urged to co-operate." Put the "ber" in Alberta.

Some individual or individuals with a perverted sense of humor mailed a number of hideous caricatures to several of Mirror's residents last Saturday, it being St. Valentine's Day. It was a clever piece of work—no.

J. W. Robb, superintendent, motive power, G. T. P. A. MacIsaac, assistant, and J. R. Mooney, road foreman west of Watrous, were in Mirror last Tuesday, on a tour of inspection.
